

6175 Overview on the EU Conflict Minerals Regulation (Free Webinar)

According to the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform Act, US listed companies must declare each year whether they use minerals from DR Congo or a neighboring country (conflict minerals = tin, tantalum, tungsten, gold). At EU level, a similar regulation has now been introduced. This webinar will inform you about the content and objectives of the EU regulation and possible implications for your company.

Objective

You know what conflict minerals are and understand what the American Dodd-Frank Act implies. You know the main points covered by the current EU regulation and you understand what kind of law we are dealing with and what that means for you and your company. You know the difference between the EU regulation and the US-American model. You can assess whether your company will be affected by the EU regulation in the future. You will also be informed on further training courses on the subject.
